

'It's insane': Pacquiao fame likened to Ali's

By Roy Luanes

LAS VEGAS—TWO HUNDRED THIRTY-SEVEN years ago, this is the same type of reaction. Ali was Ali, but Manny's getting there.

This was how Bob Arum described the throng that greeted Manny Pacquiao's grand arrival at Mandalay Bay on Tuesday afternoon, where the Filipino star was instantly drawn a crowd of fans and journalists even stepping out of a 50-second luxury bus leaving his lounge.

senators, traders air support

TWO FORMER PRESIDENTS, a group of Makati businessmen, several senators and a movement for good governance threw their support behind whistle-blower Rodolfo "Jun" Lozada Jr. who was arrested yesterday on perjury charges.

"I appeal to all freedom-loving Filipinos to support Mr. Lozada in every way possible and to make it known, loud and clear, that he is our hero," former President Corason Aquino said last night to a news conference.

Aquino, who is battling colon cancer, said she was deeply saddened by the news of Lozada's arrest and detention. She has strongly supported Lozada in opposing the involvement of the FBI-Cable in the NBN-ZTE deal.

"I shall pray for him that he

THE ARRESTING OFFICERS of whistle-blower Rodolfo "Jun" Lozada used a "password" yesterday to gain entry to the De La Salle Greenhills campus in Mandaluyong City, where Lozada and his family had been staying under the protection of guards for more than a year.

The password was "Birthday party at Coliseum."

Surrounded by supporters, Lozada was arrested on perjury charges on the strength of a warrant issued by a Manila judge, just one of his 30 legal battles since he blew the whistle on the supposed National Broadband Network-ZTE deal more than a year ago.

He told a Senate probe last year that the $329-million deal between the government and China's ZTE Corp. was overpriced by $130 million, way beyond the normal odds, to secure

IN AN UNPRECEDENTED move, a "disenchanted" foreign service corps yesterday urged President Macapagal-Arroyo to "reconsider" the appointments of the two highest ranking military officials to diplomatic posts in favor of career officers of the Department of Foreign Affairs.

The corps said in a petition

La Gloria town swine flu Ground Zero

LA GLORIA, MICHIGAN—EPISTEME TOLD Maria del Carmen Hernandez that her kindergarten's illness was just a regular cold. But it seemed like the whole town of 3,000 was getting sick.

As early as February, neighbors all around her were coming down with usually strong flu symptoms—and the caseload kept growing. When more health workers came to investigate, March 25, some 1,200 people sought their medical help. About 400 were diagnosed with acute respiratory infections and sent home with antibiotics and surgical masks.

Five-year-old Edgar Hernandez was still healthy then. Immediately wanted to keep him away from school as he wouldn't get sick, but her husband said, "We can't be afraid of what might or might not happen."

Then he came home with a fever and a

Biazon questions destab, kill-GMA plot stories

By Christine O. Arellano and Yerra Quinsanda

SIN. RODOLFO BIAZON IS SCRATCHING his head, trying to figure out the latest coup stories from President Macapagal-Arroyo's desk.

"This is a serious matter and we need an explanation from the Executive Department," said Biazon, a former chief of staff of the Armed Forces of the Philippines. Officials of the Presidential Anti-Organized Crime Commission (POCCC) have disclosed alleged new destabilization plots with the arrest on Thursday—on Friday as previously reported—of six former soldiers and a New Zealand busi-

Roxas unstoppable to fix country, prepared to make it happen in 2010

By Michael Lim-Uban

NOTHING CAN STOP SEN. MAMUEL Roxas from running for President in 2010.

"What other man can say life is less other than this?" Roxas said at a dinner on Tuesday with business editors and reporters during which he declared that he would not be deflected from his goal.

"I am ready to serve. I am prepared to make it happen. I think I'm the best qualified, competent-wise, value-wise. And I owe it to my country to try what I can and fix it," said the 55-year-old senator.

PIRACY IN SOMALIA

19 RP sailors freed; 15 seized

By Cynthia B. Salinas

A MARSHALL ISLANDS-registered cargo ship with 19 Filipino sailors on board was freed by Somali pirates on April 23 but 15 other Filipinos were taken hostage with the capture of a German-owned ship on the same day, the Department of Foreign Affairs (DFA) said Tuesday.

DFA spokesperson Ed Abadina said the MS Satumba was freed after two months in captivity. It was seized by pirates in the Gulf of Aden last February 22 while carrying coal from Indonesia to Australia in Somalia.

It had a total of 22 crewmembers, including one Ukrainian and one Indian.

On the other hand, the MY Marine, owned by Germany's Marine Schiffahrtsgesellschaft and registered in Malta, was on its way to the port of the Netherlands on Wednesday the vessel of another Satumba when intercepted by pirates.

Malay said the government was cooperating with the new diplomatic negotiating agencies, their money and continued foreign governments for the repatriation of the freed Filipino sailors and the release of those still in captivity.

DFA said it did not know whether or not ransom had been paid for the release of the Satumba ship and crew.

On April 23, pirates had also released the Philippine-Flagged MY San Francisco and its 22 Filipino crew members who were also taken home voluntarily.

The pirates are still holding MY Titan, which was hijacked last March 19 with 17 Filipinos. Nagaya, hijacked last March 25 with 18 Filipinos. Wulfa 161, hijacked last April 4 with 17 Filipinos. Washington County, hijacked last April 6 with 4 Filipinos, and MY Imma, hijacked last April 15 with 22 Filipinos.

Together with the 15 sailors on the Palisa, this adds up to 55 Filipino still held hostage by Somali pirates.

Somalia had not had a functioning government since 1991 and foreign vessels are frequently seized by pirates for ransom aimed with stolen property, goods and passengers.

In June, the United Nations Security Council moved to allow international warships to enter Somali waters to combat the problem.

Formerly African Union member, the Mission Western Africa (Mina) and the United Nations Security Council moved to allow international warships to enter Somali waters to combat the problem. MEMORY LAPSE?

Party-list solons hit back at Joker

By Lela B. Salinas

A CASE OF MEMORY LAPSE OR just ignoring the obvious?

Minority group party-list members, just days before the House of Representatives is to convene to discuss the proposed bill to amend the Constitution to allow Filipino citizens to become President of the Philippines, are saying the senator appeared to have forgotten that they had blooded out against the interests of the international interest group several times in the past, only to be rebuffed by administration officials.

Angelo said that those opposing the bill to amend the Constitution to allow Filipino citizens to become President of the Philippines, are saying the senator appeared to have forgotten that they had blooded out against the interests of the international interest group several times in the past, only to be rebuffed by administration officials.

Rep. Imelda Rueda, the proposed group Rep. Rueda, said Angelo appeared to have forgotten that they had blooded out against the interests of the international interest group several times in the past, only to be rebuffed by administration officials.

Only P400 per semester? CAP explains

By Sil C. Calaveran Jr.

THE COLLEGE ASSURANCE PLAN HAS paid nearly 30 times its tuition and other benefits when a disgruntled plan holder revealed its true governing education plans two decades ago.

CAP issued the clarification in response to a claim made by Gloria C. Balle, head of a group of disgruntled CAP plan holders, who revealed in a House committee hearing that the collapse of promised compensation through the plan has only received P400 to benefit for one semester since CAP was first established in 2006.

CAP president, Raula, predicted in March 2007 a plan for future business profits should for her daughter which cost P13,268 and paid over five years.

Balle's daughter without waiting benefit of the college plan in 2007 and she had been granted a total of P13,268 for seven semesters until 2007.

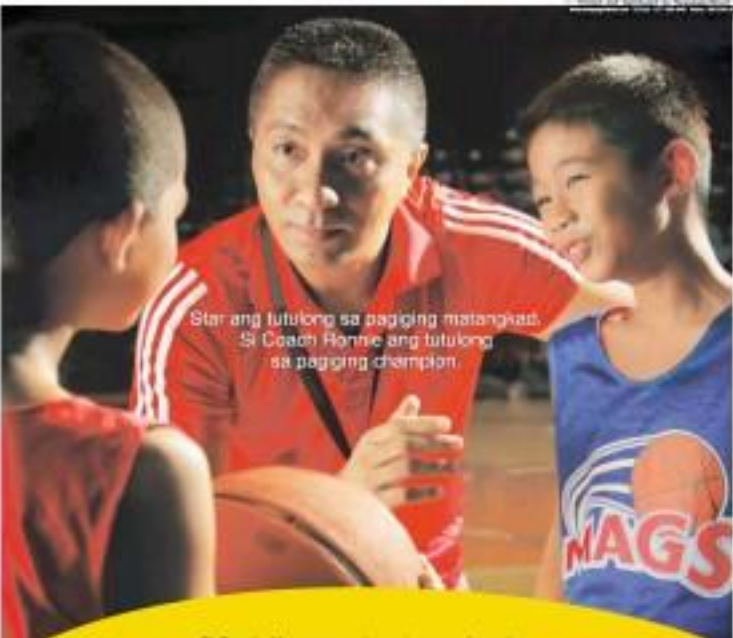

CAP stated that it need Balle a total of P13,268 for her daughter's education which P13,268 was paid on Sept. 25, 2007 with the balance now available for her withdrawal.

CAP said that the reason that Balle would have obtained a total of P13,268 in benefits with 100,000,000 in education benefits and the amount of her total investment of P13,268.

"CAP is happy to have several students who are getting their education. All of this effort will now allow her daughter to graduate," said CAP Executive Vice President Balle-Cale.

Cale explained that the most approved education plan required 38 awards in education for Balle with income that before school year 2006-2007 - P101 per quarter for exclusive school plan holders, P100 per quarter for non-exclusives, and P200 per quarter for non-college and non-university. For the school year 2008-2009 and onwards will be given to two annual beneficiaries - P100 per quarter for exclusive, P100 for non-exclusives, and P200 for non-college and non-university.

Full payment per semester will be given instead of immediate lump-sum school year 2012-2013 and onwards - P200 per quarter, P11,381 for non-exclusives, and P1,498 for non-college and non-university.

Fight diabetes, stick to the right regimen

The Department of Health has ranked diabetes as the ninth leading cause of death in the country, affecting 1 out of 25 Filipinos. DOH defines diabetes as a "serious chronic metabolic disease characterized by an increase in blood sugar levels associated with long-term damage and failure of organ functions, especially the eyes, the kidneys, the nerves, the heart and blood vessels."

It occurs when insulin is not adequately produced by the pancreas. It also happens when the body cannot properly use insulin—the hormone necessary for the proper utilization of sugar by muscles, fat and liver. Untreated diabetes results in increased sugar in your blood as glucose cannot get into your cells. This could lead to complications such as heart problems, stroke, kidney damage, or even erectile dysfunction for men. At risk of diabetes are those whose parents are diabetics themselves, who are obese, hypertensive, with extremely high cholesterol levels and who lead sedentary lives. Among the symptoms of diabetes are: excessive thirst, frequent urination, unexplained weight loss, slow-healing sores, and blurred vision.

Fight diabetes by sticking to the right regimen

Maintain a Healthy Diet

- Say no to cakes and chocolates. Fiber up instead with wheat bread, oatmeal, cereals, vegetables and fresh fruits.
- Do not skip or delay meals to avoid fluctuations in blood sugar levels.
- Reduce your salt and fat intake.

Live a Healthy Lifestyle

- If you are overweight, start weight reduction through diet and exercise.
- Exercise at least three times a week for a minimum of 30 minutes per session. Always bring candy or soft drink to avoid hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) during and after exercise.
- Do not smoke.
- Limit your alcohol intake.

Consult and Follow Your Doctor's Advice

- See your doctor for advice and management.
- Monitor your blood sugar levels regularly.
- Strictly comply with the prescribed medication to save you money and spare you unnecessary stress. This can literally save your life.

Watsons pharmacists are trained to help you adhere to the right regimen. Ask our pharmacist about our COMPLIANCE PROGRAM.

If you have diabetes do not self medicate. See your doctor and comply fully with your prescribed medication.

12 more battalions needed vs rebels—Teodoro

By Norie P. Burgos Jr.
 Inquirer, Pasig

SAN JOSE, ANTIOQUIA—THREE new battalions are needed to surround areas where conflicts between government troops and rebel or armed groups continue, according to Defense Secretary Robert B. Tirona.

Which around 500 soldiers per battalion, this means that the Armed Forces of the Philippines (AFP) will need at least 6,000 more men and P2 billion more in equipment, otherwise the country's security would be in jeopardy.

He said this number could change and would have to be validated because of the changing situation and security in China.

more soldiers and increasing the military's operational funds instead of acquiring modern and high-tech weaponry needed in the priority.

He said that an increased personnel would enable the Armed Forces to provide a deterrent against security threats and maintain readiness in mounting while fighting armed groups.

Troops will also be required to secure already cleared of rebels so that the peace would not return there, he said.

One main reason for the continued existence and abatement of the Abu Sayyaf group is the shift in focus of military operations because of the lack of troops, he said.

The priority, he said, should be on multi-role light armor platoon and on high-tech equipment for acquiring service, combat and civil engineering equipment for the military, such as aircraft and supply vehicles.

The AFP has been fighting three armed groups at the same time—the Abu Sayyaf, the Islam Islamic Liberation Front and the Communist New People's Army. It is also tasked with responding to natural and humanitarian disasters during typhoons.

"I don't know of any country where its armed forces have been able to operate the way the Armed Forces does with its limited resources," Teodoro said.

He alleged concerns over the rising military strength of China as shown in a recent international display in the Chinese Navy where it displayed the facilities to maintain powered submarines.

Tirona said the growing Chinese military power does not pose a threat to the Philippines or countries in the region but is more a concern of those in other regions.

Nueva Ecija rice farmers confront low buying price

CAMARINES CITY—ASIDE FROM THE current crisis, farmers here are facing a sudden drop in the buying price of paddy being offered by private traders.

From a high of P11 a unit in a kilogram, the price came down to P10.50 a kilogram, the price dropped to P10.50 a kilogram.

Because of the rising rice, many farmers were forced to harvest their standing crop and dump the grain already sown in the field. They were then forced to sell the grain at much lower prices.

The bad just is that many farmers stopped buying paddy, saying they did not have facilities for drying the grain.

Scarlott Sison, provincial agricultural, said local paddy production this season was expected to reach 1.6 million metric tons (32 million cavans), which, he noted, was less than the 1.8 MT during the dry season cropping last year.

He said the production area for the current dry season cropping totaled 140,000 hectares compared to last year's 130,000 ha.

A farmer in this city, Ismael Pajares, 59, harvested 345 cavans (117.38 MT) in the 30.4-hectare rice farm. He was disappointed when he saw the price for the hybrid rice he had planted in the field by the office of the provincial agricultural.

Sison said farmers, who earlier complained about the alleged inflation of hybrid rice sold to them, have been harvesting 150 to 200 cavans a hectare.

"Hybrid rice varieties are still not less than for better yields," he said.

The current crisis that caused problems at the height of rice harvesting was negated by the supposed high economic gains for having high harvest.

"Many of my co-farmers lost at least P500 per cavan because of the low price of paddy," said Wilfredo Hernandez of Barangay Villa Cramer in Sorsogon City of Isabela. "I lost at least P200,000 per hectare season," he said.

He said farmers who looked at the services of commercial buyers lost because the few facilities in the city could not handle the volume of paddy waiting to be dried.

"Due to the high expense in harvesting and the bad weather, a P20,000 per hectare loss when the farmers go per hectare after harvest months of hard toil on the farm," Hernandez said in Pampanga. Ismael Pajares, Ismael Pajares, Ismael Pajares.

50,000 purged from Camarines Sur voters' list

PHIL. CAMARINES SUR—THE NAMES OF more 50,000 people have been purged from the voters' list in Camarines Sur since last month, according to the Commission on Elections provincial office.

Ismael Badoke, provincial election supervisor, said that although the names had been removed from the list of some 500,000 voters during the October 2007 elections, it could not be guaranteed that the number of registered voters would decline.

Badoke said he expected the number of qualified voters in the 2010 elections to increase by 10 percent as voter registration continued.

He said the names of those who had failed to vote since 2007 were removed off to accordance with provisions of Republic Act No. 8188, which states that those who failed to vote for two consecutive elections are automatically disqualified from voting.

The names of voters who were dead were also dropped from the list, Badoke said.

At the end, the number of voters whose names were purged reached more 50,000, the CTEC official said. He because some voters have transferred their registration, the total number deleted from the list was 60,000 to 50,000. Of the number 35, 10,000 were from Sorsogon City. Sister of Parañaque solon arrested over P.5M debt

Trader files charges of estafa vs accused for issuing bouncing check

By Marlene Reyes

THE POLICE ARRESTED A SISTER OF PARAÑAQUE Rep. Eduardo Zola in Las Pilas City the other day after she reportedly failed to pay for P500,000 worth of jewelry, the Inquirer learned yesterday.

Police Insp. Amante Dizon Espino, city police chief, said Corruption Division 10, was arrested on Tuesday based on a warrant issued by Judge Rodolfo Mendoza of the Las Pilas Regional Trial Court Branch 175.

The arrest warrant was issued on Jan. 28 after "Trina" was charged with estafa over her alleged failure to settle her debt to a jewelry trader, he added.

Based on the complaint of the trader who was not identified, Trina issued a check for P500,000 which bounced.

Yesterday, Trina had just attended a court hearing in connection with the estafa case when she was arrested by members of the Veterans Division of the Las Pilas police at around 2:25 p.m., Espino said.

"One of my men was able to identify her after an informant relayed the information that (Trina) was attending a trial at the Las Pilas Hall of Justice," he said.

Police forces beefed up for Labor Day protests

By OJ Tap

RAJAHMUN POLICE DISTRICT Division, Chief Insp. Lito Calapitan, said around 300 police officers from his district would be deployed to Manila and other neighboring cities where protesters are expected to gather on Labor Day.

He said that as he, he has an information about rallies being organized to the cities under his jurisdiction: Pinar, Marikina, Marikina and San Juan, although the police force here would be as heightened alert on May 1.

According to Calapitan, old the Inquirer.

Trina, who was with the arresting team when they arrested the woman in her, Espino said.

At 3:30 p.m., yesterday Espino said the lawmaker's sister was still detained at the police jail, although her lawyer had already paid the P40,000 bail.

"We will have to wait for a copy of the court order for her release before we can let her go," he said.

The Inquirer tried to talk with Trina but she refused to be interviewed.

According to Espino, Trina "was very emotional" and to drop her brother's name into the matter.

"She said that if she was not a sister of the congressman, she would not be here to talk about her," he said.

"My brother has nothing to do with this. This is my personal problem and I will resolve this all by myself," Espino quoted Trina as saying.

Another 300 police officers would be sent to sectors and monitor the Labor Day demonstrations, particularly those in Lungsod Taguig, where they are expected to converge.

In a related development, the IPO would be to defend its title in the annual competition among the districts for the demonstration of skills in controlling civil disturbances.

Calapitan said that although the cities under IPO were not common streets for protests and other demonstrations, the cities usually do well in these competitions.

North Korea threatens to conduct 2nd nuke test

SEOUL—NORTH KOREA ON WEDNESDAY threatened a nuclear test unless the United Nations Security Council apologizes over sanctions, which some analysts said confirms the isolated state's determination to have an atomic arsenal.

The threat adds to mounting tension in economically powerful Asia following the North's April 8 rocket launch that the United States and other governments said was the disguised test of a long-range missile.

"On the 10th (Tuesday) I don't see either an on-missile apology... the DPRK (North Korea) will be compelled to take additional self-defensive measures to make its defense more effective," the North's foreign ministry spokesperson was quoted as saying by the KCNA news agency.

"The situation will include at the weekend, it said it had warned "emerging" tensions from spent fuel rods at its nuclear complex.

That announcement came hours after a UN Security Council panel placed North Korea's 1994-on-a black list for selling Pyongyang's nuclear and nuclear programs.

"The fundamental fact is North Korea is not implementing a nuclear power and is not accomplishing that, nuclear tests are not, not," said Chung Mong-ku, an expert on the North at the Council for Foreign Relations in Beijing. "The nuclear test isn't enough. There'll be more nuclear tests and more missile tests."

North Korea has pushed to be recognized as a nuclear state in an attempt to gain legitimacy as it is bound to negotiate position with the UN, a country that Pyongyang has said will never recognize its

Obama marks 100th day in office

WASHINGTON—BARACK OBAMA marks his 100th day in office on Wednesday with a trip to the United States' birthplace and then a crisis-free press conference to reflect on his presidency's first 100 days.

Obama took office on Jan. 20, Obama has marked the most significant crisis since the first Depression, almost the 100 million people in Iraq and Afghanistan, and shows the world a different face of America as it first black president.

And that more and more, he now faces a deadly new challenge in the form of a nuclear test that North Korea has said could explode into a global pandemic.

Against that background, Obama will set out from the White House on Wednesday morning for his first 100-day mission in his first 100 days of his presidency. Obama will offer a chance to put his own perspective on his first 100 days.

His first priority in Washington for a nationally televised press conference where he is certain to be grilled about huge challenges that face the country on many fronts.

"There's always more for improvement," Obama's spokesperson Robert Gibbs said.

Obama's spokesperson Robert Gibbs said: "I think the president and the administration are pleased with what has been done in the first 100 days. You look at everything that's been done, from the health care bill, to the economic stimulus, to the energy bill, to the passage of a recovery and investment plan," he said on Monday. AP

Flu Doctor says 'Preparedness Comes First'

By: Gretchen Lazarel

Amidst rising global and health concerns raised in light of the Mexican Swine Flu outbreak, local flu doctor and pediatric infectious disease specialist Dr. Nancy Dermal has one prescription—preparedness means first.

"We should be worried in the sense that we have to prepare for it but not in the extent that we have to panic," Dr. Dermal says that the preparedness that Filipinos should consider must be rooted in flu—flu—awareness and good hygiene practices.

Be Aware

"It's important to read the newspapers and to know what's going on in other countries," citing the most recent Swine Flu tally count of 48 casualties and 1,600 cases as an example. "But what's more important than identifying those numbers, is knowing how to differentiate between the three main 'flu' types of the flu season: H1N1, the swine flu and the avian flu."

Dr. Dermal explains that the virus commonly circulates in the human and animal environment. Swine flu is caused by the virus that change to spread in humans, whereas the avian flu is caused by the virus that circulates and the virus is caused by those that when pigs, she notes that the mixing of human and animal flu viruses can lead to the development of new strains in which the human population has little or no immunity against.

Despite this, Dr. Dermal assures the public that the local health department has already been taking various measures to address the swine flu virus threat. "The preparedness that we're wanting to insure ourselves with," At present, passengers coming from Mexico and other infected countries are screened for the flu. Those found to be infected will be quarantined at the Research Institute for Tropical Medicine and prevented from the service.

Be Clean

While local health officials are doing their part, the Flu Doctor also reminds the public to do theirs by practicing good hygiene and keeping their homes clean.

This is commonly spread through coughing and sneezing and to counter this, Dr. Dermal recommends what she calls the "cough etiquette." "This simply means covering your nose when coughing or sneezing and covering your mouth with disposable tissue." She also stresses the importance of frequent hand washing.

Dr. Dermal stresses the surface cleaning is another important step in preventing flu strains. "Let's say you sneeze and then you go to the door handle or the table-top, you may not know it, but the virus or bacteria can be transferred to that area." Because of this, she recommends cleaning and disinfecting frequently touched surfaces such as door handles, light switches, counter tops, telephones, light switches, bath taps, garbage cans and travel containers.

As a parting note to the general public, Dr. Dermal once again calls for preparedness tempered with sanity. "The news has come out all over the media, but everybody should keep calm and educate themselves about it and other infections as well. Of course, we have to do our part by maintaining good hygiene practices and the whole family—starting from the mothers down to the kids."

Salt and pepper squid

By Norma Chikiana
Contributor

WHETHER IN CREAM SAUCE and pepper squid is a Chinese restaurant, everyone digs in happily as soon as the plate is served on the table. The crisp coating, the slightly salty, mildly spicy flavor, and the tender texture of the squid, all combine to make this dish irresistible. Here's my kitchen-tested version of the dish. The use of egg whites (instead of whole eggs) makes the coating light and crunchy.

Salt and Pepper Squid

- 3-4 Servings
- 1/2 squid
- Salt and pepper
- 3 egg whites
- 1/2 flour
- 1/2 cooking oil

Clean squid. Remove heads and tentacles. Separate off the black ink, then the squid and discard ink (or reserve for another use). Peel off the purple skin from the squid.

Cut open each squid. Cut each squid into three (see photo above). Wipe dry with paper towels.

With a sharp knife, score the inner surface of each squid with numerous pinpricks (see photo above). Season lightly with salt and pepper.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Spread the flour on a plate lined with waxed paper. Coat squid in flour and oil.

Dip each squid into egg whites then dredge lightly with flour. Fry in hot oil until a light golden yellow (see photo above). Remove from heat to drain and transfer to a paper-lined plate with paper towels to excess oil get absorbed.

When all the squid pieces have been fried, arrange on a serving platter and season to taste with salt and pepper.

Serve with desired sauce (think mayo, ketchup, etc.).

Cook's tips

- Do not overcook the squid as it doesn't get tough. It takes time to become tender to cook the squid through.
- Make sure the oil is very hot before putting in the squid.
- Do not season the cooked squid too heavily with salt and pepper. Despite its name, the dish doesn't have to be too salty or too peppery. Seasoners don't throw out salt and pepper shakers on the table for those who want additional seasoning.

King Crab House is San Juan's best-kept secret

THERE'S NOTHING MOCH to see in this 11-year-old Chinese restaurant in San Juan. If you're expecting to gawk at huge tanks of fish housed in a room bursting with bright lights to munch the blood-red rubber-duck topped with a plate of peanuts or krugol, you'll be disappointed. There is none of that here.

You go in, Doug Cook (kneads) and fix its interior, which is simple and rustic but for the food, which has satisfied phans from all over for many years.

There's the sweet, firm and refreshing flesh of crabs flown in daily from Zamboanga, Basilan and Tawi. Most chefs say to enjoy crabs at their best, they should be fresh and still right up to cooking. About 30-40 live crabs are supplied to the restaurant every day. Most of the time, they are sold out by evening, especially on weekends.

Cooked in a variety of ways—steamed, baked, or in coconut milk, curries, stir-fry

OTHER MONTANA, JAMES WISSING, actor-director and TV host recently came to the United States for a series of meetings with casting directors. "I'm doing a follow-up on several projects that I'm trying," Cass said. He became the second media personality.

"There's one film I really hope to be part of," he added. "But I'm not allowed to talk about it yet. All I can say is that like The Great Wall, it'll be done in Australia."

"The Great Wall" was a 2016 Hollywood film based on real events during World War II. Conspicuous Gap, Aaron Farris, a physics professor who took part in the January 2000 release of NOVA magazine's Colossus Rising, says it is. It was directed by John Dahl and featured bridge architect Benjamin Brest. Joseph Thomas (also known as "Uncle Mutt")

In a directorial role, Gracie said he hopes to enter the global film market with a new set of projects. "I believe The Gracie Brown Fox," Part of his grand plan is to cost a few UK-based actors. "Sincerely, Sir Eric Gracie."

Uplight Cabaret
Sunday nights, I was scheduled to appear as a guest performer at the Uplight Cabaret at World Renaissance in New York. (www.uplightcabaret.com) The night producer was Tim Brandt, and my appointment was to help promote my upcoming album, My Life for You. "Well, I can't do that," I said. "I'm married." "What? Married? Great!" "Great?" I asked. "Yes, I'm married."

The married bit was very much a tradition, and there we sat, followed. I sang "Pretend Me," "I'll Give My Life for You," "Reflections" and did "My Life for You" again, because, I then asked. The book readings, and we sang a whole New Yorker together.

Monsters rule in animated feature

FROM THE HEART OF TIME
DreamWorks was producing an animated feature, "Monsters vs. Aliens," we made a movie out of it. It's the only movie we've ever made in this format, and it's the only movie we've ever made in this format.

But when we actually started shooting the feature this last week, we felt a bit odd. Because the movie began its journey by traveling to a series of relatively bad images depicting an engaged couple's boring life in a small town in California.

Only later did we realize that the movie's foundation was laid on a very solid, but not too solid, foundation. The movie is based on a series of relatively bad images depicting an engaged couple's boring life in a small town in California.

The plot begins when the US military swarms down on the newly married giant and attempts her in a top-secret facility. But the giant woman has put up for "Monsters vs. Aliens" like her.

But it's not just the giant woman who's shocked when she's described as a monster. It's the giant woman who's shocked when she's described as a monster.

the documentary "Smoking Grass" and Queen Gene (an All-Star dance group named the best dance crew in the world).

It was a star-studded night. The awards night was hosted by Justin Bieber ("The House of B"). The Jay-Z (Clay A.) and Frank Ocean ("Clay"). George Takei (the original Star Trek) and his partner Brad Pitt (who was named at our table). Celine Dion (one of the judges on "Dancing with the Stars") was a presence.

Opening the show was the "Star Trek: The Next Generation" (one of the best in the world). A time occupied by the "Star Trek: The Next Generation" (one of the best in the world). A time occupied by the "Star Trek: The Next Generation" (one of the best in the world).

Ellen La Plante (in "The Singer" show) and in London to play the role in "The Ring and The Quest" (which closed the show). The audience was in the best of the show, and it was a great opportunity to meet some of the industry's top talent.
